

Darrel and I were fortunate to meet a wonderful family in Richmond, Virginia while we were there for Darrel's heart transplant. The Himan family has a son that is a Marine, who was injured in Afghanistan by an IED. He has spinal cord injuries that are life altering. This young Marine is Corporal Josh Himan.

We have had the privilege of helping with Multiple other trades and volunteers, to do a complete home makeover/addition in Woodbridge, Virginia, for this amazing family. This was necessary to allow this injured Marine to have wheel chair access and handicap facilities in the home so that he could finally go home, after two years. I designed the kitchen, bathrooms and large laundry room for the addition. When the cabinet stage of the project was ready to be done, we drove up and did the installation of all the cabinetry. The addition was completed in 58 days and it was a $200,000 project that cost the family nothing due to the foundations and donations from other Americans and trades that helped this veteran to be able to come home again. There has never been a more rewarding experience. What a miracle it was!
